WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON, NOVEMBER 26.

☞ECONOMY.—Our readers will perceive, by the extract of Letter, in another part of this paper, that this village has again been visited by a destructive fire.—The loss, it is rumored, exceeds $100,000, though we hope this is exaggerated; and we presume there was no insurance.

The able editor of the Baltimore American is always ready, when any opportunity offers, to promote the interests or to advocate the rights of the "monumental city." Latterly, indeed, he has extended his watchful guardianship far beyond the limits of that beautiful and hospitable city, and seems disposed to take that thriving State which joins Pennsylvania on the west into his provident keeping. Ever since it was determined to hold a Convention at Warren, to make arrangements for the connection of the Pennsylvania and the Ohio Canals, this watchful sentinel seems very fearful that this young and vigorous State may not have justice done her by the sturdy Dutchmen of Pennsylvania. He seems to think that it is not sufficient that Pennsylvania should, at an expense of fifteen or eighteen millions of dollars, have opened, for the citizens of Ohio, a canal, much shorter and cheaper than any they now possess, for the conveyance of their produce to market. He seems to have received the impression that the citizens of Pennsylvania will alone be benefited, or at least that they will be principally benefited, by the junction of the two canals. He seems to forget that the farmer who gets his produce a little cheaper to market, derives at least as much advantage from the canal, as the State does from the tolls. He forgets or overlooks this undeniable truth, and contends, most strenuously, that the Ohioans should not partake of a great advantage or facility which is within their reach, and which was prepared at an expense of many millions, by Pennsylvania, unless she will also allow them what he supposes will be a still greater advantage. In the last number of that paper we find the following paragraph upon this subject.

After noticing the proceedings of the convention, the American say—

"The meeting, we are pleased to hear, was harmonious, and a general confidence was entertained of the speedy accomplishment of this desirable improvement. Its importance is not overrated, and the effects will unquestionably add largely to the common prosperity and increase.—If the Ohio people, in the charter which must emanate from their legislature, make such terms as they will have a right to expect and demand, for removing the unnatural obstructions to trade at Columbia, these benefits will be still greater and more extensive. Merchants, farmers, manufacturers, &c. of both States have a deep interest in the abolition of the heavy tribute, levied upon all the commerce of the Pennsylvania Canals, for the benefit of a particular point within that State."

This subject is not altogether new in our legislative history—a claim, bearing some resemblance to it, has been agitated for several years—one portion of the State was desirous to obtain the privilege to make a rail road to what they conceived to be their best market, and we confess that we never felt the force of the arguments by which their applications were resisted. They were a part of the State—they were entitled to equal protection—are bound to contribute their share to the expenditures. They paid their proportion of taxes, as other counties did, and were in fact compelled to pay an additional tax, by being forced to send their produce, &c., to market by a rout more expensive than another which might have been made, and which would have been made without expense to the State. In this we thought, and still think, there was injustice and inequality. Our legislature evinced, in our opinion, the feeling of a step parent to the counties convenient to Baltimore.

Such was our opinion, when the claim was urged by our own citizens. The case, however, we think, is widely different, when the same claim is urged by citizens of other States, who have contributed nothing towards the making of our great improvements. They claim a right to reap where they never sowed—to make use of improvements made by Pennsylvania—to follow those improvements just as far as they please, and then to adopt a rout alleged to be cheaper, and go to build up a rival city to one in our own state. The great object of our canals and rail roads was the enrichment of the whole state; of one portion, by affording it easy access to a market; of the other, by giving it the advantage arising out of the resort to that market; and, certainly, the design of a great many of the friends of those improvements would be defeated, if they contributed to the injury of that market and to the building up of a rival.

Whatever may be the rights of our own fellow citizens, who contributed to make these improvements, surely strangers, who come in as guests, will stand upon different ground.

We have thought proper to say so much, in relation to the claim set up by the able and vigilant editor of the American.—We believe that it is not founded in justice, but discussion is, in fact, unavailing. The Legislature of Ohio has already given her consent to the making the cross cut canal—the charter is now in being, and has three summers to run.—An application will be made for aid, by subscription; but whether that State does or does not subscribe the work will, we trust, go bravely on.

Extract from a letter dated—

"ECONOMY, November 26.

I have to announce to you the unpleasant intelligence, that our Woollen Factory was seen to be on fire last night, about 15 minutes after 6 o'clock, about the middle of the building, and on the very top of the inside of the roof, where there never was a candle, fire, nor chimney, nor any other material which would communicate fire. We applied all our means, but the flames increased and burned down one floor after another, with nearly all the machinery, &c., and much wool.

We are satisfied that it was the work of an incendiary, who took the opportunity, when the men were all at supper, to perpetrate this base and malicious act. All the goods, finished, and unfinished, were saved, with some fragments of machinery. The flames increased so rapidly that we had no time to take apart and remove those large and heavy looms, jacks, &c. &c.

It is an awful sight to see the large skeleton of this once so well arranged establishment—nothing but the bare walls are standing.

It is well we have learned to set a fair and correct value on the perishable things of this world, in which there is no dependence. Mr. F. Rapp continues to mend, and appears to bear the loss of his "Garden" with manly fortitude."

Extract of a letter, dated Warren, Wednesday, November 15, 1833.

The Convention was well attended, say 106 members, a great deal of decorum and unanimity prevailed. A number of reports have been made by committees appointed, spreading before the public a great mass of information on the subject. The only resolutions adopted, to produce any effect, are those referring the choice of routs as above to the delegates mentioned, and to appoint ten persons: five from Ohio and five from Pennsylvania, to apply to the Legislature of both States for aid in accomplishing the work.

The principles which I have heretofore advocated have been fully sustained by the experience and information of the members collected together, especially, by the experience of Josiah White, who constructed the Lehigh navigation work, and Mauch Chunk Rail Road.—The facts are, that the construction of Canals are cheaper as 2 to 3—that the tolls are less as 3 to 5, and that a continued rail road or continued canal, should be adopted to avoid transhipment and delay.

The act of incorporation requires a canal from Akron to Pittsburgh, and if pursued in consequence of the proceedings of this convention, settle the question of routs at once.

We have assurances that Pennsylvania, so far as any event can be anticipated, will complete the Canal within her borders. The gentlemen from Philadelphia, gave assurances that the stock required for the Ohio part of the work, will be cheerfully subscribed in that city.

You will see, from the promises above stated, that we have the satisfaction to find that all the difficulties attending the great work will be met and overcome.—Statesman.

Extract of a letter to the Editor, dated

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 15.

I arrived here a day or two since, and although thus early in the season, found some difficulty in obtaining a suitable private boarding house, not that many members of Congress have arrived, but that the city is thronged with reporters, printers, and adventurers, all seeking cheap and comfortable lodgings. Having at last obtained a pleasant situation, and having nothing to do further than to overlook the Legislators of the Nation, and to hunt out as much political information as possible, you may expect to hear from me as often as there is any thing worth communicating.

I saw the President to day. He has changed materially since he passed through Philadelphia, and although he still brushes up his hair, and endeavors to look as youthful and vigorous as possible, he is evidently on "his last legs," and cannot survive much longer. I learn, from the best of sources, that he is almost broken down by the conflicts of the Kitchen Cabinet—the members of which are a set of the basest political desperadoes that ever contrived to obtain influence over a weak and credulous old man. Major Lewis is the only member of this Cabinet who possesses any merit or honesty, and but for his prudence and disinterested attachment to the Old Roman, he would before this have resigned the Presidency, and retired to the Hermitage.

General Jackson anticipates, with fear and trembling, the approaching session of Congress. He regrets the removal of the Deposits, and would immediately recal that act, but for the misrepresentations of the gamblers who surround him.—He, nevertheless, anticipates, with the strongest apprehension, a vote of censure, by both Houses of Congress, and, if such a vote is passed, as it is quite probable, I should not be surprized to see the old Roman at once yield up the reins of Government. He is fully convinced already that he has been played upon and betrayed by Kendall & Co., but, unfortunate man! he does not know where to look for help and counsel. His only true friends are Cass and Lewis, and these are intimidated by the cunning and threats of Kendall, Blair, and their base coadjutors.

You have no doubt heard of the difficulty in the Post Office Department. The amount of it is this—the present Post Master, Major Barry, is friendly to Col. R. M. Johnson for the next Presidency! Do not start. Mr. Van Buren has discovered this, and, hence, has set his engines to work, in order to effect the removal of the Major. He will not be successful, but his attempt has been detected—its object is fully apparent to the friends of Colonel Johnson, and has provoked, for the Vice President, an opposition in the Jackson ranks, that promises to injure him more effectually than all the anti Jackson opposition. The influence of the Post Office Department is great. Colonel Johnson has ever been a friend and advocate of this Department, and has great popularity with the thousands of Post Masters, throughout the country. Rely upon it, therefore, that if he determines to be a candidate, he will receive no mean support.—More anon.—Philad. Inq.

The Daily Intelligencer, a Jackson paper of Philadelphia, makes the following commentary upon the Globe's attacks upon Mr. Duane—

"The amount of the explanation of the Globe appears to be this, that Duane entered office wholly uncommitted on the subject of the removal of the deposits: that when required to remove them, he declined doing so, and stated his reasons. Of the alleged disrespect, we see no proof; and from Mr. Duane's character and position, we can hardly believe that he was disrespectful. A decent, nay, even an animated firmness on such a point, was patriotism—not disrespect.—In refusing to remove the deposites, he intimated that he would resign, if the President insisted on the measure. The Globe states that the failure to remove this pledge occasioned his dismissal. He was not, according to the Globe, dismissed for refusing to remove the deposits: but he was forced out because he would not go without forcing."

The Harrisburg Chronicle, another Jackson paper, speaks of Mr. Duane, as a man "whose character has no mysterious points about it, unless fair dealing, honesty, and firmness are considered such."

We cannot too often repeat the solemn truth—it should stand out in bold relief in the columns of every honest and independent newspaper in the land—that the war now waged by the administration against the Bank of the United States, is solely in consequence of the refusal of that bank to enter into the political arena, and to lend itself to the proscriptive policy of the dominant party. It was called upon to remove a President of one of the Branches, for a difference of political opinion, and to appoint a heated partisan in his place. It replied, that it recognized no man's political sentiments, and could act upon no preferences or prejudices arising from political considerations. From that moment, the President's hostility was aroused, and he swore in his wrath that it should be destroyed!—Fredonian.

Pleasant M. Miller, Esq. a citizen of Jackson, Tenn., has addressed a letter to the Hon. Felix Grundy, in which he informs him that he will apply to the Senate of the U. States to expel him from that body, on the ground that he had falsely represented that he had traveled one thousand miles, when in fact, he had only traveled seven hundred and fifty, by which means he obtained from the Treasury two hundred dollars more than he was by law entitled to, and because he has been in the habit for the last four years of obtaining from the Treasury four hundred dollars more than he was entitled to. In the conclusion of his letter Mr. Miller says, that Mr. Grundy has been "constantly picking up chips from other peoples' wood piles to make a fire to warm himself by, and by hook and by crook he has succeeded admirably."

A statement is published in the New York Journal of Commerce of the names and circulation of all the newspapers in London, from which it appears that the number of daily papers is 12, tri weekly 7, semi weekly 1, weekly 46, monthly 1. Total 67. The aggregate amount of their circulation in 18 months was 31,764,240 sheets; being at the rate of 21,176,160 per annum.

The number of daily papers in New York City is 12; tri weekly 1; semi weekly 11; weekly, (according to Williams's Annual Register for the present year,) 30; semi monthly 3; monthly 4. Total 61. Aggregate annual circulation, about 12,000,000 sheets, or a little more than half the number printed in London.

Great dissatisfaction is said to exist in the northern part of the state of Illinois, in consequence of the Post Office Department having sent to that region, for the payment of the public creditors there, notes of a private Bank in the City of Washington. The merchants refuse to receive them, and those who have been paid in such notes, are obliged to pay a discount of five per cent. to convert them into current money. This is one of the blessings to the people, from the change of the deposits. The Jacksonville Patriot says, a large amount of notes of the Patriotic Bank of Washington, have been thrown into circulation by Gen. Duncan. These notes are at a discount of from one to two per cent. in Philadelphia.—Louisville Herald.

Mormonites.—Orsan Hyde, in a letter to the editor of the St. Louis Republican, says, that on Thursday night, October 31, some forty or fifty of the citizens of Jackson county, assembled about eight miles from Independence, the seat of the Mormonites, and demolished twelve of their dwelling houses. On the night of the 1st of November, they entered the store of Gilbert & Whitney, and scattered their goods through the streets—demolished Mr. Gilbert's dwelling house, and broke the doors and windows of all the dwellings belonging to the Mormonites, in the town of Independence. On the 2d, the mob commenced their ravages above Blue River, and fired five or six guns upon the Mormonites, but without effect—the fire was returned, when one of the mob was wounded. On the 4th, the mob collected again, to the number of two or three hundred—well armed. A part of these attempted to renew their depredations, but were met by a party of Mormonites, who fired upon and killed two or three, and wounded several—among the killed was Hugh L. Breazeale, Attorney at Law. On the 5th, another battle was fought, in which a Mr. Hicks, a lawyer, and about twenty more of the mob, were severely wounded. Whatever may be the religious opinions of this people, they have certain rights, and ought to be protected from the lawless violence of mobs.

FIRST NAVAL OPERATIONS OF THE REVOLUTION.

When General Washington took command of the army, no measures had been adopted by Congress for prosecuting a naval warfare. The subject had never been, in any shape, brought before them. Rhode Island fitted out and armed two small schooners, in June, 1775, which were chiefly intended to protect the waters of that colony from the depredations of the enemy's small craft, although, before the end of the summer, one of them was sent to cruise on the coast. Connecticut likewise, about the same time, fitted out one or two armed vessels. On the 20th of June, the Provincial Congress of Massachusetts resolved to provide six armed vessels. But it appears by Gen. Washington's letter to the Continental Congress, that none of them had been got in readiness as late as the 12th of October.

The English army, and the inhabitants of Boston, being entirely excluded from any communication with the country, it was necessary that all their supplies should come by water, and the multitude of small vessels employed for the purpose suggested the idea of providing some means of diminishing the enemy's resources by capturing these vessels. The General had received no instructions from Congress, which authorized him to engage in naval enterprizes; but he thought that the powers with which he was vested, by a proper construction, enabled him to attempt any designs to annoy and distress the enemy, which should not operate to the disadvantage of the great interests entrusted to him. There being sea captains and sailors in the army, he formed the project of employing a select number of them on their congenial element, and sent persons to Salem, Beverly, Marblehead, and Plymouth, to find out and engage for the public service suitable vessels, which could be expeditiously prepared for a short cruise. He appointed agents to superintend the necessary preparations, and furnish supplies, and also to take charge of prizes, when brought in, and to dispose of them according to such directions as they should receive. The first person commissioned as a naval commander, under the authority of the Continental Congress, or rather the authority of Washington, derived from Congress, was Capt. Broughton, of Marblehead.

Before the end of October, six vessels, of a small size, had been armed and manned, and sent out to cruise within the Capes. It was the design, as expressed in the instructions, to intercept the enemy's supplies, and not to seek for encounters with armed vessels. The six schooners were commanded by Captains Broughton, Selman, Manly, Martindale, Coit, and Adams; and the names of five of them were the Hannah, Harrison, Lee, Washington, Lynch. Several prizes were brought in, some of which were valuable, particularly one taken by Captain Manly, consisting of munitions of war, said to be worth ten thousand pounds.—But, on the whole, the cruises of these vessels were not very satisfactory. Some of the officers proved incompetent, the men mutinied, and caused difficulties, and the season was unfavorable.—Captains Broughton and Selman had been unsuccessful in their cruise to the St. Lawrence, and shown but little discretion in conducting the enterprize. They sent in several vessels, which were restored to the owners, as not being subject to capture. Captain Martindale's vessel was taken by the enemy, and himself made prisoner.

At length, on the 1st of February, 1776, the navy, if so it might be called, was formed into a new establishment, being comprised of four vessels; the Hancock, commanded by Manly as commodore; the Warren, captain Burke; the Lynch, captain Ayres; the Harrison, captain Dyer. The instructions were the same as those originally given to captain Broughton, with the addition of three articles.

As Commodore of this little fleet, captain Manly sustained and increased the high reputation he had already acquired. His valor and discretion became the theme of public applause, and so far attracted the attention of Congress, that when the navy of the United States was organized, he was appointed to the command of a frigate. The four vessels put under his command in February, were successful; but after the evacuation of Boston, and the march of the army to New York, Washington had no more to do with naval affairs. His conduct in this matter received the full approbation of Congress.

THE PACHA OF EGYPT.

Our readers are no doubt aware the Lady Esther Stanhope is a celebrated English woman, who, after having wandered for a long time in the East, and even reigned over some wandering tribes of Arabs, settled at the foot of Mount Lebanon, where not long ago she still exercised almost a sovereign influence over the population of those countries. Few travelers have traversed, for 18 years past, Egypt, Syria, and Arabia, without having visited Lady Stanhope, and having received from that interpid Amazon the most important information of the physical and moral condition of these different countries. The following amongst other curious facts, is an anecdote related by her Ladyship to a traveler, who has kindly communicated it to us. We give it in the words of the traveler.

"In the course of several conversations which I had with Lady Stanhope, this intrepid lady related to me several anecdotes of the people of the East, which presented a faithful picture of their manners and superstitions. I shall prefer citing one relative to the Sultan Mahmoud and Mehemet Ali, the two greatest men of whom these regions can boast.

For some years the always increasing power of the Viceroy of Egypt was a cause of disquietude for the Sublime Porte. It was feared at Stamboul (and events have proved these fears not to be vain) that the Pacha would finish by throwing off the yoke of the heir of the Caliphs.

In vain the sombrous policy of the Seraglio had often despatched into Egypt the Capidgi Baschis armed with the poinard and the cord; in vain these perfidious agents had made use of every effort to deliver the Sultan from so dangerous a rival by means of poison; Mehemet Ali, always upon his guard, and well informed by his spies at Constantinople, never fell into the snares which were laid for him. The Sultan at length hit upon a plan so artfully conceived, and wrapped up in so impenetrable a mystery, that it appeared impossible it should fail.

The imperial harem contained at that time a Georgian slave of the most perfect beauty, and whose innocence seemed to promise the Sultan the success of the project which he had conceived. The faith in talismans exists still in all its force in the East; this traditional superstition is prevalent with the Mussulmans of every class.

Mahmoud sent one day for the beautiful Georgian, and feigning a great affection for her and a lively desire to render her happy, he told her that his imperial will was to send into Egypt, and to offer her as a present to Mehemet Ali, whose riches and power were unlimited as the countries to which he gave the law. He made her understand that if she succeeded in captivating the master for whom he destined her, felicity without bounds would be her portion; she would be the sovereign of Egypt, and reign over numberless empires. The Sultan added, that to secure the accomplishment of the desires that his heart formed for her happiness and glory, he would give her a talisman, which he then placed upon her finger.—"Watch," said he, "the first moment that the Pacha shall repose upon your bosom; throw this ring into a glass of water; present it to Mehemet Ali, and if he drink it, you will be absolute mistress; he will for ever be your lover and your slave."—The simple Georgian, dazzled with her future grandeur, accepted with delight the fortune which her master offered to her, and promised in all points to follow the directions of the Sultan.

Soon she arrived at Cairo, with a splendid suite and numerous slaves, laden with rich presents.—But the secret agents, whom Mehemet Ali kept at the Sublime Porte, had warned him of a plot against his life, without, however, being able to acquaint him with the precise nature of it. They had advised him, only, that, according to all probability, the Georgian was to be the instrument of it. Besides a demonstration of friendship, so extraordinary on the part of a master, of whom he was an object of jealousy, would naturally alarm the Pacha. Thus he did not permit the beauteous Georgian to enjoy the light of his presence, and, after some stay at Cairo, he sent her as a present to his intimate friend, Belley Aga, Governor of Alexandria, of whom (by the way of parenthesis) he had been jealous for some time.

After having lost a Pacha, the poor Georgian thought the best thing to be done was to captivate his Aga, to whom, in effect, she administered the fatal beverage, according to the instructions which the Sultan had given for Mehemet Ali. The Aga fell down dead, and the Georgian uttered the most piercing cries.

Immediately the eunuchs came and carried away the body of their master. Accused of having poisoned the Aga, the Georgian denied it calmly, and with firmness. "What have you then done to him?" they demanded. "I have given him a glass of water, into which I cast a talisman," answered she; "behold both the glass and the ring!" The ring was there, it is true, but the stone, with which it was set, had disappeared—it was dissolved.

Exports of Leather Manufactures.—The extent of the export trade in leather, and the manufacture of leather, is not generally known. A few years ago not a dollar's worth was sent abroad—but, on the contrary, great quantities were imported from France and England. By the returns of the Treasury, for 1832, we find the following statements:

Exports of leather, in pounds,	318,590
Do. of boots, in pairs,	4,215
Do. of shoes, in pairs,	263,081
Value of the above exports,	$277,388

The exports are principally made to the West Indies and Spanish America—a small portion up the Mediterranean. Every year this trade is increasing. At present, Boston and New York monopolize nearly the whole, arising, no doubt, from the fact that the manufacturers are aided and encouraged by business facilities to any reasonable extent.

The Hat Trade.—The domestic trade and manufacture in hats have increased very much during the last few years. The exports of last year amounted alone to $210,912—half of which was to the island of Cuba alone. Probably next year the exports will reach $500,000.—Pennsylvanian.

Sentences from Horace.—No one is born without vices, and he is the best man who is encumbered with the least.

As soon as age shall have strengthened your limbs and mind, you swim without a cork.

It is fair that he who entreats a pardon for his faults, should be ready to grant one in his turn.

It is of no consequence of what parents any man is born, so that he be of merit.

Let there be some end to your searching after riches, and since you have more than enough, be in less dread of poverty.

All, but especially the covetous, think their condition the hardest.

He who is always in a hurry to be wealthy, and immersed in the study of augmenting his fortune, has lost the arms of Reason and deserted the post of Virtue.

The friendship of great men is a laudable acquisition, yet their favors are ever to be solicited with modesty and caution.

Death is the ultimate boundary of human matters.

Charges for Transportation on the Baltimore and Ohio rail road—

Westwardly—six cents per ton, per mile, with the exception of salt and plaster—salt being at four cents, and plaster at three cents per ton, per mile, without extra charges.

Eastwardly—four cents per ton, per mile.

On all articles except salt and plaster, 30 cents per ton, are charged for loading.

The moderate sum charged on salt and plaster makes a great saving to the farmers of Frederick, &c.—perhaps, has already saved them a sum equal to 100,000 dollars—which is a clear profit.

The general amount of transportation is mightily increased, because of the facility which this road affords; and the business on it, at large, increases every day.

Steam power will be exclusively used—and a great saving to the company thereby effected.

The road is in excellent order—and will soon be extended to Harper's Ferry—and much increase of transportation will immediately take place.—Niles.

Extracts from the Review of the Baltimore Market, for the week ending Friday evening, November 22.

CANDLES—We continue to quote Sperm. Candles at 35 cts. per lb., for New Bedford, and 34 cts. for other brands.

COFFEE—We are advised of the sales of about 2,000 bags Rio this week, viz: 1,300 bags old crop at 12 cts.; 300 bags fair new crop at 12¼ cts.; from 300 to 400 bags prime green at 13 cts., and some small lots at 13¼ cts. Sales of small lots of La Guayra at 12½ a 12⅝ cts.; and of St. Domingo at 12¼ a 12 1-2 cts.

COTTON—A lot of 43 bales new crop Upland was sold at 16 cts. We quote Louisiana, common, at 16 1-2 cts., and prime at 17 cts. We understand that sales were made this week of about 150 bales at these rates.

FISH—The market is entirely bare of Mackerel. A small lot, received in the early part of the week, was readily disposed of at our highest quotations. Limited sales of Herrings at $4 25 a 4 50 per bbl. There were inspected this week 97 bbls. and 117 half bbls. Mackerel, and 28 bbls. Herrings.

FLOUR—Howard street Flour—At the beginning of the week sales from stores were made at $5 81¼ and $5 87 1-2, but chiefly at the latter rate. Since then sales have also been made at both prices. Holders generally ask $5 87 1-2 to day.—The wagon price is now very generally 5 75, although a portion of the receipts has been taken at $5 68 3-4.

HEMP—A lot of 10 tons Russia, quality superior, was sold this week at $185 per ton.

TOBACCO—There has been a moderate demand for Maryland this week, and sales have been made at about former rates. Ohio has been but little inquired for, and prices have declined a shade. We note sales of 95 hhds. Maryland at $4 a $7 50, including one or two small lots Ground Leaf at $5 50 a $7 50; and a lot of Ohio at $7 50 a $11. The inspections of the week comprise 256 hhds. Maryland, and 23 hhds. Ohio, total 279 hhds.

WHISKEY—The market is without animation. Sales of hhds. are making in moderate parcels, at 28 cents per gallon, less one per cent. The wagon price of bbls. has ranged from 25 a 26 cents, exclusive of the barrel; and sales from stores have been made at 29 1-2 a 30 cents. The inspections of the week comprise 65 hhds. and 1,224 bbls., of which 72 hhds. were received from the Susquehanna.

WAGON FREIGHTS—We continue to quote to Wheeling $1 75, and to Pittsburgh $1 50 per 100 lbs.—American.

HARRISBURGH CHRONICLE—EXTRA. Published, Twice a Week, by Hugh Hamilton & Son.—Reports of Proceedings of the Pennsylvania Legislature.—The Harrisburgh Chronicle will contain a concise and faithful report of the proceedings and debates of the Legislature of Pennsylvania, which will commence its session in Harrisburgh, on the first Tuesday of December next. The Senior Editor will report in one of the legislative branches, and an experienced and competent Reporter is engaged to attend in the other. Such reports will be furnished as are calculated to put the reader in possession of a history of the Session of 1833 4; to do which, the faculty of condensation shall be employed for the benefit of the reader, even though it may sometimes be unpleasant to the legislator; for the topics that must, of course, come up for discussion, will be more numerous, important, and diversified than they have been heretofore, and there is every probability that the exciting questions that must necessarily be agitated in Congress, will also become exciting questions in the Legislature of the State, and add to the interest of the Session.

The proceedings of the Legislature of the State are full of interest to the citizen, and an intimate acquaintance with them is almost an indispensable requisite, when he comes forward on election day to exercise his sovereignty in the capacity of a voter. Hence every citizen ought to possess a fair and faithful report of the proceedings, and it is hoped that those who do not choose the Chronicle will take some other paper for this purpose.

TERMS.—For the Session alone, twice a week, in advance, - $2 00

For the whole year, in advance, 3 00

DAILY PAPER AT HARRISBURGH.—The subscribers propose to publish a Daily Paper during the coming session of the Legislature, provided a sufficient number of subscribers are procured to warrant the expense. The necessity of a daily journal at the seat of government, impartial as to politics, and giving the debates of both houses, fully, faithfully, and daily, has long since been acknowledged. Such a paper cannot be sustained in Harrisburg, unless the citizens of other sections of the state come forward and aid in its support. At the present stage of our improvement system, and fiscal conserns of the commonwealth, a daily paper, the statements of which can be depended upon, published at the seat of government, must be a desideratum of all parties. We therefore shall expect that exertions will be made in every section of the state to procure us subscribers.

The Daily Pennsylvania Intelligencer will be printed on a half imperial sheet, for five dollars (in advance,) during the session. It will not only contain full and impartial daily reports of the proceedings of the Legislature, but will contain a summary of the proceedings of Congress, besides news and miscellaneous reading. ☞ Post Masters and Agents procuring four subscribers, shall receive a fifth copy gratis.

FAIRBANK'S PLATFORM SCALES.

THESE scales are constructed upon an improved principle; are fitted up with great care by the manufacturers, and warranted to weigh with accuracy from half a pound to 12,000. Being placed in, and forming part of, the floor, the process of weighing is performed with ease and facility, while the space they occupy may be improved as a passage way or for other purposes.

The construction of these scales is such that they are little liable to derangement of wear, and their perfect operation will be guaranteed for any reasonable length of time.

The usual objection, that a new method of weighing cannot be safely entrusted to unskilful hands, is obviated by the use of the improved BALANCE, concerning which are the following remarks in the Journal of the Franklin Institute, of the state of Pennsylvania, for the promotion of the Mechanic Arts, for June, 1833. (Edited by Thos. P. Jones, M. D., late Superintendent of the Patent Office, at Washington, Professor of Mechanics in the Franklin Institute, &c.

"The Messrs. Fairbanks, some time since, obtained a patent for a Platform Weighing Machine, and this mode of adjuating and graduating the Beam of the Balance, and the weights, was devised by them with a view to its employment with the before mentioned machine. We have had an opportunity of examining one of their balances, and have been much pleased with it: this examination, however, was not necessary to the conviction that it possesses a just claim to the character of a real improvement, the whole arrangement being so simple as to enable any person to perceive that it is well adapted to the purpose contemplated, that of facilitating the business of weighing, and more especially of heavy articles."

The subscriber, as Agent, will receive orders for the above Scales, which will be made in this city to order. They can be seen at his Warehouse, No. 84, Front street.

Nov. 8, 1833. MOSES ATWOOD.

SALE OF REAL ESTATE.

THE Subscribers, Trustees of the New Philadelphia Society, at Phillipsburgh, Beaver county, Pennsylvania, offer for sale the following property, to wit:

1	tract of land	containing	330 acres
1	do	do	330
	other lots, containing about		6

The above lands lie in one body, fronting about two miles upon the Ohio river—immediately opposite the mouth of Big Beaver creek, and the Beaver Division of the Pennsylvania Canal. The land is rich, and a part of it under a high state of cultivation—its location pleasant and healthy. The improvements upon the same are valuable, including the town of Phillipsburgh, late the residence of Count Leon, and the New Philadelphia Society. The town contains about 40 Dwelling Houses, now in order; some of them brick houses and two stories high. A large and spacious Hotel, a Store house, Church, a number of Shops, for mechanics, Stables, Barns, and other out houses. Also, two large new buildings, lately erected, but not yet finished, one of brick, the other of frame (the latter suitable for a manufactory) a very extensive public garden, and also fruit trees of various kinds. The property has also attached to it the right of a ferry across the Ohio, which is valuable, and becoming more so every day.

The above property is situated in the midst of a wealthy and prosperous country, distant about 28 miles below Pittsburgh, and one mile from Beaver, the seat of justice for Beaver county---and having a view for many miles up and down the Ohio, and of the country to a great distance around.

The subscribers are confident in saying that few situations could be found, presenting greater facilities to the farmer, mechanic, the manufacturer, and others--- a soil rich and productive---the neighborhood abounding in coal---well timbered and watered, and, by means of the Pennsylvania Canal, and steamboat navigation, a cheap and ready conveyance to market, and a communication with other places is ensured.

The property is susceptible of divisions into farms, or for the location of new towns, or for the extension of the present one.

Should it not be sold on or before the first day of January next, it will then be offered at public sale, upon the premises, to the highest and best bidder.

It will be sold in a body, or in parcels, to suit purchasers.

Terms of sale will be reasonable.

Information can be had by enquiring of the subscribers, two of whom live in the neighborhood, and one on the premises.

DOCTOR ROBERT'S

☞ WELCH MEDICAMENTUM. ☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,

From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.

UTICA, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer s vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

☞A number of cases of cures performed by the Anti-Dyspeptic Elixer in the vicinity of Pittsburgh can be given.

GEO. W. CARPENTER'S

COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes giving t emporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradully increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in a cases, and is a pleasant medicine to take.

TYPE FOUNDRY.

HAVING purchased of Mr. Richard Ronaldson, his long established and very extensive Type Foundry, the subscribers have formed a co-partnership for the purpose of continuing said business, and for the convenience of their friends and patrons, have removed their establishment to a more central part of the city. As it is their intention to keep on hand a good assortment of the best type, and to make such additions and improvements as the taste of the trade and the wants of the country require, they flatter themselves that this establishment will merit a large share of patronage. They have now several founts on hand, which can be furnished at a few hours' notice, and are prepared to make founts of all weights and sizes, from Pearl to 22 lines Pica, including a variety of Ornamental Letter. Their assortment of Cuts, Dashes, Brass Rule, and other Ornaments, will be found to be very extensive, of which specimens will be forwarded to Printers as soon as they can be prepared.

Printing Presses of every description, Printing Ink of the most approved qualities, Composing Sticks, Brass and Common Galleys, Chases, Imposing Stones, Cases, Paper and Press Boards, Standing Presses, Furniture, together with a complete assortment of all articles used in a Printing Office, will be kept constantly on hand.

Small founts, suitable for Book Binders, in great variety, may be had when called for.

Orders from all parts in the Union will be promptly and most carefully attended to, and particularly in supplying sorts for all founts furnished by their predecessors, Binny & Ronaldson, and Richard Ronaldson.

PATENT PLANING MACHINE.—The right to use this valuable machine, invented and patented by William Woodworth, and known as Woodworth's Patent Planing Machine, may be obtained on application to the subscriber for the counties of Allegheny, Butler, Beaver, Washington, Green, Fayette, Somerset, Cambria, Indiana, Jefferson, Clearfield, M'Kean, Warren, Venango, Mercer, Crawford, and Erie, in the State of Pennsylvania. That part of Maryland lying west of the Blue Ridge; all that part of Virginia lying west of the Blue Ridge, except the county of Ohio. The whole of the state of Ohio except the counties of Hamilton, Butler, and Montgomery. The whole of the state of Kentucky, except the counties of Jefferson, Boone, Oldham, Gallatin, and Campbell. The whole of Indiana, except the counties of Floyd, Clark, Jefferson, Dearborn, and Switzerland. The whole of the state of Illinois, and the territory of Michigan. Rights to use the machine in that part of the United States, named above, will be sold by the single county or in larger districts. As it is presumed that no one will purchase without seeing the machine at work, a description of it is deemed unnecessary. Should any person, however, wish to purchase, and find it inconvenient to visit the places where it is in operation, a machine will be furnished, warranted to plane, tongue and groove, and bring to an exact width and thickness, a white pine board of 12 feet long, and of any width from 1 to 14 inches, in one minute and ten seconds, or an oak board of the same dimensions in 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Herron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention, state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE.

THE Subscriber offers for sale the farm on which he lives, in Washington county, on Pigeon creek, one mile south of Williamsport, on the Monongahela river, to which there is a perfectly level road. This farm contains near 400 acres, the greater part of which is first rate land. There is on the premises a Brick Dwelling House, a Merchant mill, in good repair, a new saw mill, a stone still house, 35 by 40 feet; a salt works is also in operation, and worked to advantage; about 150 acres of land cleared and under good fence. There is on the premises three small tenements for the accommodation of families. This tract is well timbered, and abounds with stone coal and springs of water, both of the best quality.

To a person wishing to embark in a manufacturing business, and possessing capital, this would be a very desirable situation, having the advantage of both water power from Pigeon creek, and banks of the very best coal near to the works, and easy of access, and its vicinity to so navigable a river where articles of any kind are so cheaply transported to Pittsburgh.

For further particulars, apply to James P. Stuart, Merchant, Wood street, Pittsburgh, or to the subscriber on the premises.
